Sovietization of East Germany. He had spent the war in neutral Sweden and in the Soviet Union. He returned to Germany in May, 1945. In 1949 he helped found the Socialist Unity party, a merger of Communists and Social Democrats.

In the provisional East German government of October, 1949, he was named deputy premier. A few months later he was made general secretary of the Socialist Unity party.

From 1954 to 1960, Mr. Ulbricht was one of a ruling triumvirate. But when President Wilhelm Pieck died in 1960, Mr. Ulbricht was elected chairman of a newly formed Council of State, with substantially wider powers than the president, and his power was complete.

He was a firm supporter of the 1958 invasion of Czechoslovakia by Soviet-led Warsaw Pact forces. Mr. Honecker, a former road slayer, was spotlighted as the undisputed "crown prince" of the party in 1967 when he gave the keynote address at the seventh party congress.

He is believed to have been personally responsible in the Politburo for the state security service, police, army and party personnel.

He has a flawless Communist background. Both of his parents in 1912, in the Saar, his first work on behalf of the party was delivering newspapers with his mother at the age of 8.

He joined the local Communist children's group at the age of 10, the Communist Youth at 14, and four years later was a full party member.

In 1934, he was ordered to Berlin to organize underground resistance to the Nazis, but was arrested by the Gestapo early in 1936 and sentenced to ten years imprisonment for "preparation of high treason."

He remained in prison until liberated by Russian soldiers entering Berlin in 1945.

On his release he set about founding and organizing the East German Communist youth movement, the Free German Youth, and was rewarded for this by being called to the Central Committee in 1950. Soon afterward he was a candidate member for the Politburo.

In 1958, Mr. Honecker became a full Politburo member and in 1963 took charge of party organization, becoming responsible for the whole security apparatus. He has been shy of publicity.

Mr. Honecker has been married twice. His second wife, Margot, is minister of education.

Brezhnev Lauds Honecker MOSCOW, May 3 (AP)—Leonid I. Brezhnev, Soviet Communist party chief, congratulated East German leader Erich Honecker on his selection as East Germany's new party head and praised him for strengthening cooperation between East Germany and the Soviet Union.

The Soviet news agency Tass carried tonight the text of a congratulatory telegram which Mr. Brezhnev sent to Mr. Honecker.

High Court Rejects Suit on Death Issue toward a possible ruling on the constitutional rights of women to end pregnancies.

Refused to review a school desegregation order for suburban Cook County, Illinois, the first such order won by the Justice Department in a northern school system. This was the second time in two weeks the court had ruled in favor of more school desegregation, the earlier decision finding that school busing to seek racial balance was constitutional.

Declared unconstitutional a 1969 New York State law forbidding school desegregation efforts by state education officials and appointed school boards. This was the court's first direct action on "de facto" segregation which stems from neighborhood housing patterns.

Agreed to decide whether news reporters have a constitutional right to refuse to appear before grand juries and to identify confidential news sources.

Upheld the government's power to prosecute people who sent pornography through the mails as well as to confiscate obscene matter brought into the country from abroad for sale.

In the long-awaited capital punishment case, Justice Warren was joined by Justices William J. Brennan Jr., William O. Douglas and Thurgood Marshall.

Forty-one of the 50 states have capital punishment and of those, six provide separate trials for guilt and punishment—California, New York, Pennsylvania, Texas, Georgia and Connecticut.

In the Cramp case from Ohio and the McGowan case from California, the court was asked to set standards for determining when the death sentence was appropriate. Such standards might include an individual's capability of being reformed and the harm done to the victim.

In the Ohio case, an additional issue was put forward: Cramp's claim that he should have had a separate trial on his punishment rather than a single trial in which the jury decided him guilty and set the penalty.

In the decision, Justice Brennan said: "Our function is not to impose on the states, ex cathedra, what might seem to us a better system for dealing with capital cases."

"Rather it is to decide whether the federal Constitution proscribes the present procedures of these states in such cases."

The question of capital punishment has not historically had been put to the judgment and consciences of juries, and it would take a strong showing to upset this settled practice of the nation on constitutional grounds.

"We find it quite impossible to say that committing to the untrained discretion of the jury the power to pronounce life or death in capital cases is offensive to anything in the Constitution," Justice Brennan wrote.

Rogers Gives Assurances To Beirut as Tour Goes On key, Monkey, Rogers, Rogers, Donkey, Donkey," the crowds paraded through the Moslem quarters of Beirut to the office of the Palestine Liberation Organization.

There they congregated before a small police guard and waved placards saying, "Solve Your Own Problems, Rogers—We Will Solve Ours."

The crowd burned effigies of Mr. Rogers bearing a Star of David on his arm and then they quietly dispersed.

Mr. Rogers meanwhile started talks at the presidential palace outside Beirut with President Suleiman Franjeh after security forces dropped a plan to move him from Beirut airport by helicopter, and steered his motorcade via little-used side streets.

The secretary drove to the palace from the nearby residence of American Ambassador William Buzam and was received by Mr. Franjeh. They met for nearly two hours.

Later he attended a state banquet. Tomorrow, Mr. Rogers has planned to meet with Premier Saeb Salam and Foreign Minister Khalil Abou Hamed before traveling on to Cairo for two days of talks.

Mr. Rogers' low-level helicopter ride highlighted a short stopover in Jordan before the secretary headed for nearby Lebanon.

King Hussein, himself a flying enthusiast and pilot, did not accompany Mr. Rogers on the two-and-a-half hour helicopter trip.

The trip followed an uneventful tour last night in which King Hussein drove Mr. Rogers through parts of Amman that only weeks ago were strongholds of the Palestinian resistance.

The king's car was followed by another car carrying Crown Prince Hassan and U.S. Under Secretary of State for Near Eastern Affairs Joseph J. Sisco.

Times reported that in his talks with King Hussein, the secretary was said to have raised some "new thoughts" on various Middle East issues including an Arab-Israeli settlement and an agreement to reopen the Suez Canal.

American sources refused to divulge the content of the "new thoughts," but insisted that they did not embody "new proposals" for reopening the canal or resolving the Arab-Israeli dispute.

Official sources with Mr. Rogers seem to be trying to deflect any impression that he will be negotiating with and acting as a middleman between the Arabs and Israelis during his current trip, possibly to avoid any later embarrassment for him if his journey proves fruitless.

Whatever the effect of Mr. Rogers' "new thoughts" on King Hussein, the two came to no meeting of minds on all the Middle East issues they discussed.

American sources said the men did not "see eye to eye" on some of the matters they talked over, a repetition of what they said after Mr. Rogers' earlier meetings with King Faisal of Saudi Arabia.

Mr. Rogers' tour of the Middle East is part of a larger tour of the Middle East and the Caribbean, which began in Washington on March 19.

SITTING IN SAT ON—Washington policemen keep an anti-war demonstrator down after arresting him while clearing an area of the capital of persons blocking traffic.

Spock led about 750 demonstrators in repeated attempts to block traffic. At one point, they managed to tie up the bridge for about seven minutes. But police, using the day's heaviest barrage of tear gas, drove the protesters off and arrested 350 of them.

In a similar manner, police cleared smaller groups from the Washington end of two other Potomac bridges.

At Dupont Circle, long a popular area among Washington "street people," another confrontation took place with demonstrators blocking traffic and heckling passersby. Police quickly restored order with numerous arrests.

The worst problems occurred in the Georgetown area, where many of the protesters had taken refuge after being evicted from their camps yesterday.

The area began to develop into a battleground early in the morning with a skirmish between demonstrators and federal troops guarding key bridges. Later demonstrators threw glass, stones and bottles at troops and police, who replied with tear gas and clubs.

The activists overturned a truck on the Whitehurst Freeway in the Georgetown area, blocking traffic until the vehicle could be towed away. In addition, they shoved parked cars into the streets, dumped trash and set them afire, set nails and oil on the pavements and ripped up bricks from the sidewalk and hurled them at passing cars. They also disabled two buses in the area by opening the engine compartments and cutting the fuel lines.

Violence Averted At about 10 a.m., protesters blocked the main entrance of Georgetown University. However, major violence was avoided when both the demonstrators and police surrounding the university agreed to "cool it."

Another major confrontation developed near the Washington Monument as demonstrators regrouped after unsuccessful attempts to close the Memorial and the 14th Street Bridges. A phalanx of police used tear gas to break up the mob, arresting hundreds of protesters.

These tactics were repeated all over the downtown area but on some streets police developed solutions of their own for dealing with the protesters.

While the use of tear gas was fairly effective in breaking up crowds of activists, many bystanders were also affected by the fumes.

After police dispersed larger mobs of demonstrators from various areas, Army and National Guard troops took over to clear the streets.

No Casualties By '72 Called Attacked; 32d Strike in '71

Nixon's Aim GOP Chairman Sees That as 'End to War'

By Robert C. Maynard

WASHINGTON, May 3 (WP)—Sen. Robert J. Dole of Kansas, chairman of the Republican party National Committee, said yesterday that President Nixon is aiming to reduce the casualties of American servicemen in Indochina to zero by the end of this year.

It is that goal, he said, which is the "end to the war," even if U.S. bombing continues.

He predicted, as the President has, that the war will not continue to be an issue in American presidential politics. He was asked if the continued bombing of Indochinese civilians would not continue to be an issue of importance.

"It's important," Sen. Dole answered, "but not in American politics. It's important that we be able to bring the South Vietnamese to a point where they can fight their own battle."

In a telephone conversation afterward, Sen. Dole said his "zero casualty" prediction was "not based on any inside information."

Noted Troop Cuts He noted that American manpower in Southeast Asia had been cut to 281,000 from a peak of about 542,000 men when Mr. Nixon took office.

"Now I say this is progress, and I say when the casualties are down to zero, that's virtually an end to our participation in the war. And the greatest news that would happen... some Thursday would be an announcement that there were no casualties—no American casualties—the past week. This is the announcement the American people are waiting for."

Sen. Dole said also: "We are a war-weary people. We're tired of the war. We're tired of American casualties, tired of American wounded. And as I sense the mood of the people across the country, what they're really looking for is an end to U.S. participation completely—but in the interim, an end to American casualties."

Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D., Ark., chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, said on another television program yesterday that Mr. Nixon "has never committed himself to withdraw" from Southeast Asia. The war will be an issue in the 1972 presidential campaign, he said.

Vandalism Averted In the Georgetown shopping area, vandals were averted. Federal troops lined the main business streets. They stood at ten-foot intervals with rifles slung over their shoulders.

A Pentagon spokesman said that 10,000 troops were ready for duty in Washington but that only 4,000 were being used. He told newsmen that the troops took normal riot-control equipment including tear gas but that ammunition for their rifles was locked in ammunition trailers under the charge of officers.

"We don't want any incidents," the spokesman said. The police and the military generally kept tight discipline over their men, with officers and sergeants repeatedly telling the ranks to "keep it cool."

In most cases, discipline prevailed, and excessive force was absent.

Chief Frazee Men Police Chief Jerry V. Wilson praised his men for their discipline and professional attitude and read his men a statement from President Nixon commending them for their actions during the demonstrations of the last two weeks.

There were a few isolated instances of violence between demonstrators and the demonstrators, however.

Some motorists said that they were 30 to 45 minutes late reaching work and some buses were almost an hour behind schedule.

By mid-afternoon the city was quiet and police were bracing themselves for possible further trouble tonight.

Meanwhile, eight judges were busy arranging the protesters' jamming city jails and a makeshift compound near a stadium.

Majesty to Be Held Chief Wilson told a press conference that the demonstrators were being processed "as expeditiously as we can" but that "the vast majority of them would not be released by the morning rush hour" when new protests are planned.

Almost 2,000 persons were jammed into the stadium compound, mostly young white males between 18 and 24. Troops surrounded the compound, which is enclosed by an eight-foot chain-link fence, with tear-gas canisters at the ready.

Many of the detainees complained about the cold as the chilly afternoon wore on and little food was available.

A police captain on the scene described the compound as a "detention facility" to be used only until negotiations could be worked out for the judicial process.

U.S. Team in Paris PARIS, May 3 (AP)—The American table tennis team which visited China last month arrived today for a series of exhibition matches in France.

SAIGON, May 3 (UPI)—A U.S. Air Force F-105 jet fighter attacked an anti-aircraft missile site in North Vietnam yesterday in the 32d protective reaction strike against the Communist country this year, the U.S. Command said.

The command said the plane attacked when its electronic gear detected a "lock-on" by the Communist missile site.

The F-105 diverted from a bombing mission it was supporting over Laos and fired a missile at the site, which the command said was 38 miles east of the Laotian border and 80 miles northwest of the Demilitarized Zone between North and South Vietnam. The results of the attack were unknown, the command said.

Poor weather from Typhoon Wanda reduced the number of U.S. air missions in the northern regions of South Vietnam yesterday, and battlefield actions were reported light. For the second day in a week, no American war deaths were reported for Saturday.

Battle Near Da Nang The South Vietnamese command reported one battle yesterday, an attack by Communist forces against its district military headquarters at Dai Loc, 16 miles southwest of the northern coastal city of Da Nang. The command said 15 militiamen were killed and 53 wounded in the battle. A total of 92 Communist bodies were reported to have been counted after the fighting.

Tactical air strikes were called in to help repulse the attack. Although beaten back, the Communists fired a barrage of mortar shells into the base early today.

In Cambodia, government spokesmen reported that a major battle took place Saturday 55 miles southwest of Phnom Penh. The Cambodians reported killing 38 Communists and capturing six weapons and a large quantity of ammunition and supplies after several hours of fighting. Government casualties were put at eight dead and an unspecified number wounded.

Fallout Goal Surpassed U.S. troop withdrawals from Vietnam during Phase VI of President Nixon's program exceeded the goal by 11,000 men, the greatest margin ever, the U.S. Command announced today.

In the seven days ending at midnight last Thursday, U.S. troop strength in Vietnam was cut back by 6,000 men to 373,400, the lowest figure since June 1968, the command said. The drop of 8,000 in a week was second highest this year, and only by the 3,900 drop of two weeks earlier, and fourth highest week since withdrawal began in July. Another 400 men left Vietnam Friday, the final day of the month-long Phase VI.

The strategic bombing, by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, are being used "troop formations and lines" and are under "very strict rules to seek to avoid 'civilian' villages."

His statement, made in response to a question by Clifford P. Case, R., N.J., the first official acknowledgment that B-52s were being used in war in northern Laos bet the royalist government and pro-Communist Pathet Lao.

The Pentagon had previously confirmed that B-52s were on one occasion in February, against North Vietnamese forces during an intense fight for Plain de Jarres. But administration officials had never fully confirmed before today B-52s were being used as regular basis in northern Laos clearly indicated by Mr. Irwin.

The Irwin disclosure provokes another public footnote to a secret war that the U.S. has waged in northern Laos in support of the royal Laotian government.

Since 1964, American warplanes based in Thailand have been providing air support to royalist forces as well as a semi-autonomous army of Montagnard forces financed by the Central Intelligence Agency. But until this issue was forced out in the open last year by a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee headed by Sen. Smart Symington, D., Mo., the military activity in northern Laos was kept secret by the Johnson and Nixon administrations, which repeatedly gave the impression that American bombing was limited to strikes along the Ho Chi Minh Trail in southern Laos.

William H. Sullivan, former ambassador to Laos and now deputy assistant secretary of state for East Asian and Pacific Affairs, disclosed after the hearing that B-52 bombers had been used in northern Laos for "about two years."

Army Probing Alleged Killings By U.S. General WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP)—The U.S. Army said tonight that a brigadier general was under investigation for alleged misconduct in Vietnam.

The Army announcement followed a Time magazine article that a general was accused of murdering a number of South Vietnamese peasants three years ago.

Neither the Army announcement nor Time magazine named the general. "The Army advises that an Army brigadier general is under investigation for alleged misconduct," a spokesman for the Pentagon announced. "Since investigation has not been completed, we have no further comment."

The article asserted that the general took potshots at Vietnamese peasants, who were on the ground while he was supposed to be in a command helicopter. Time said he had been accused of murdering perhaps six South Vietnamese civilians in Quang Nam Province late in 1968.

Court-Approved Wire Taps Doubled in 1970 Over 1969

By Fred P. Graham

WASHINGTON, May 3 (UPI).—A new report to Congress on wiretapping shows that the number of court-approved wiretaps used by federal and state law enforcement agencies almost doubled in 1970 over the figure of 1969.

Last year a total of 587 court orders were granted throughout the United States authorizing the installation of electronic listening devices by state and federal officers. In the previous year, the figure was 302.

The surge in wiretapping by law enforcement officers was marked by a sharp rise in surveillance by the Justice Department and the State of New Jersey.

The Justice Department, which had obtained only 33 orders to eavesdrop in 1969, obtained 183 last year. New Jersey, which has developed an aggressive unit against organized crime under State Attorney General George F. Kugler, got 132 court orders last year, compared to only 29 the year before.

Not Yet Public

The report, which was sent to Congress on Friday by Roland F. Kirs, administrator of the United States courts, has not yet been made public.

It covers only electronic surveillance that is used in criminal cases with court approval. Not covered is the wiretapping that is done by federal agents without court approval in internal security investigations.

President Nixon said at his press conference Saturday that his administration is doing less of the internal security eavesdropping than was done in the early years of the Kennedy administration. He said that at no time are more than 50 internal security wiretaps in operation under his administration, and that in 1961, 1962 and 1963 the ceiling in effect was 100 devices.

Court-approved eavesdropping by federal and state anticrime investigators was authorized by Congress in the omnibus crime control act of 1968. The law requires each agency to report its surveillance activities each year to Mr. Kirs, who compiles a national report and files it with Congress.

New York Has Most

The current report showed that New York, which pioneered court-approved wiretapping four decades ago, still authorizes more of it than any other jurisdiction. There were 215 eavesdrop warrants granted last year to New York, compared to 191 in 1969.

Last year 1,574 arrests were said to have resulted from eavesdropping, compared to 625 the year before. The average device picked up 655 interceptions, of which 45 percent were said to be incriminating. In 1969, fewer interceptions were picked up on the average device, and a lower percentage were incriminating.

Because of the numerous reviews that are required before a court order for eavesdropping will be granted, wiretapping tends to be used in investigations of criminal activity that operates out of permanent quarters, such as gambling establishments. In the Justice Department, for instance, an agent's request for wiretap permission can move through 10 officials before it reaches Attorney General John N. Mitchell for his approval. By the time a judge approves it, two to three weeks usually have lapsed.

However, the report showed that some police are obviously overlooking the law's intent, which was that surveillance should be directed at solving specific crimes, and conducted for only brief periods.

One wiretap, for instance, was placed in a private home in Niagara County, New York, in an "intelligence" investigation. It was left in operation for 414 days.

Vatican, Poland Hold First Talks Since World War

ROME, May 3 (UPI).—The Vatican announced today that Polish government officials and aides to Pope Paul VI held talks here last week on church-state relations in Poland. The three-day conversations were described as the first of their kind since the end of World War II.

The Polish group that negotiated with the Vatican was headed by Alexander Skarski, a vice-minister and director of the Polish Office for Religious Affairs. The chief negotiator for the Vatican was the Most Rev. Agostino Casaroli, unofficially described as the Pope's "foreign minister," who visited Moscow last February.

Today's statement said that conversations between the Polish government and the Vatican would continue at some future date.

Public Takes Artist at His Word, Forcing Gallery to Close Exhibit

LONDON, May 3 (AP).—London's art critics solemnly compared it to Michelangelo or Mozart's "Magic Flute," but American sculptor Robert Morris' exhibition was a battered wreck today and the Tate Gallery closed it as a danger to the public.

The trouble is, the public went bloody mad, a commissioner at the art museum said. "There is only one item in the show which is still intact," exhibition director Michael Compton said.

Mr. Morris' show opened last Wednesday—two entire sculpture galleries filled with wooden beams, ropes, sacks, concrete blocks, boards to slide on, wooden crevasses to climb, and not a conventional sculpture anywhere in sight.

"Participation art," the critics called it, and the viewers were supposed to "stop being passive spectators and get involved"—meaning swing on the ropes, lift the weights, clamber through the tunnels, teeter on a giant fiberglass ball and balance on the seesaws.

Yesterday, the crowds swarmed into the Tate and the Morris show turned into chaos.

"The public got into the party spirit—a somewhat overzealous participation," Mr. Compton said. "They were jumping and screaming, swinging the weights around wildly—the middle-aged in particular. The children were the most sensible of all the visitors."

U.S. Awaiting Trade Goals From Chinese

VIENNA, May 3 (UPI).—Maurice Stans, the U.S. secretary of commerce, said today that the possibilities of U.S. trade with Communist China depends both on Peking's desires and on the goods it has to offer.

"There is no real evidence yet" of "the extent of the Chinese desire to trade," Mr. Stans told a news conference here at the end of his 17-day trip to Greece, Ireland, Austria, Romania, Iran and Spain.

"There are possibilities for an improvement in trade" with China, Mr. Stans said. "The United States has every desire for a closer commercial relationship with mainland China and it is hopeful that these relationships can develop over the years."

"We are all practicing Ping-Pong now," he added.

Mr. Stans said that the Nixon administration favors a bill, now before Congress, that would give the President the discretion to offer "most-favored-nation" tariff treatment to East European countries.

Romania Favored

If the bill passes, he said, "the first country [to get this treatment] would be Romania, because [it] has indicated to a greater degree a receptiveness to U.S. trade and investment than other Eastern European countries."

During his Bucharest visit, he said, the Romanian government "indicated a desire" for more Romanian-American trade and for U.S. investment in Romania and for joint ventures between the two nations.

"The chances are," he said, "that trade between Romania and the United States will increase gradually and there will be U.S. investment and joint ventures." In other East European countries, trade is growing slowly.

"Regarding the Soviet Union," Mr. Stans added, "the amount of trade depends very much on their desires and actions in the future indicating a willingness to cooperate on trade and other matters."

Picasso's Son Loses In Illegitimacy Suit

AIX-EN-PROVENCE, France, May 3 (AP).—An appeals court today rejected an attempt by Pablo Picasso's illegitimate son, Claude, to be recognized as a legal offspring of the painter. The Aix appeals court thus confirmed a verdict of a French court rendered in April, 1970.

Claude, 24, was born to Françoise Gilot while she and Picasso were living together. Picasso's attorney argued that Picasso was married to Olga Kokhleva in 1918 and that they were never divorced, so therefore Claude could not be legally recognized. She died in 1955. If Claude had been recognized he would be in line for a full share of Picasso's estate when he dies. At present he would get only a half share. Picasso is 88.

Soviet Dissident Reportedly Released by Mental Hospital

By Bernard Gwertzman

MOSCOW, May 3 (UPI).—A once-prominent Soviet political dissident was reportedly released today after nearly two years of enforced confinement in a Latvian mental hospital.

Reliable sources said that Ivan A. Yakhimovich, a former Communist party member and collective farm chairman, was permitted to leave the mental institution in Riga and rejoin his wife and three daughters. There was no explanation on the circumstances of his release.

Mr. Yakhimovich, a philology graduate of Latvian State University, was singled out for praise in 1964 by the newspaper Komunistiskaya Pravda for his energetic work as a farm chairman. But a few years later he became a critic of the regime's policies. He lost his job and was expelled from the Communist party in 1968 after he wrote a letter to Mikhail A. Suslov, a Politburo member, protesting the "persecution of young dissidents" by authorities.

His letter, which was published abroad, referred to the trial of

Mills Is Willing If Named to Run For Presidency

WASHINGTON, May 3 (UPI).—Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, who now says that he would accept the 1972 Democratic presidential nomination if it were offered, has won the backing of another prominent lawmaker Sen. J. William Fulbright.

Sen. Fulbright, like Rep. Mills, an Arkansas Democrat, said in a television interview that he would "certainly support" the chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee if the nomination came to Rep. Mills. He called Rep. Mills a "knowledgeable... and competent man."

Rep. Mills has disavowed any attempt on his part to win the nomination, although an informal "Mills for President" committee has surfaced and several House members have announced their support for him.

Yesterday, Rep. Mills went a little further than he has previously when he said on a TV show:

"I am not a candidate. I have no intention of becoming a candidate. If the unlikely situation should develop that the convention seems fit to nominate one who is not a candidate, and that mantle fall on me, I would certainly have to accept it."

Officer's Trial Delayed in Rome

ROME, May 3 (UPI).—One of Italy's most famous policemen appeared in court briefly today on charges of accepting money to protect an illegal gambling house. The case then was adjourned indefinitely on a legal technicality.

Nicola Scire, former head of the Rome crime squad, was one of 27 persons charged in connection with a gambling ring case. His chief co-defendant was blonde Countess Maria Pia Nascarella, 54, who the prosecution said was the liaison between Mr. Scire and the gamblers.

The hearing had just started when the defense objected that three witnesses had not been properly notified. The court accepted the objection and postponed the case indefinitely.

Al Capp Hospitalized

HARRISON, Ark., May 3 (UPI).—Al Capp, 61, creator of the Li'l Abner comic strip, was reported "resting comfortably" today at Boone county hospital. He was hospitalized Sunday after collapsing on a lecture tour from what a hospital spokesman said was exhaustion.

Gunmen Seize Radio in Spain Put Carlist Slogans on Air

PAMPLONA, Spain, May 3 (UPI).—Two masked gunmen took over a radio station here yesterday and for 15 minutes forced operators to broadcast a tape recording of Carlist slogans, Spanish radio said today.

The men overpowered two radio men yesterday after a day-long rally at Mount Montejurra where Carlists demanded chief of state Francisco Franco revoke his choice of Prince Juan Carlos of Borbon as his successor.

The men fled shortly before police arrived at the radio station, the radio workers said.

The Carlists, whose long dispute over the dynastic right to the Spanish throne has caused three civil wars in the last century, maintain that Xavier of Borbon Parma and his son Carlos Hugo are the rightful heirs to the throne. Gen. Franco, however, named the grandson of Spain's last reigning monarch, Alfonso XIII, to succeed him as head of state.

Besides the traditional annual outdoor yesterday by the Carlists, Spain was generally quiet over the May Day weekend.

Much of this resulted from Gen. Franco's timing in announcing that Spanish workers will be allowed to assemble at their places of work to discuss labor problems.

The decree was published after the regular Spanish cabinet meeting on Friday night. In effect it assured that the government meant it when it included the workers' right to assemble in the recently approved trade unions law.

Labor sources report there are already signs of more confidence in the new law by Spanish workers. Some say there is a noticeable split now in the ranks of illegal "workers commissions," the underground trade union organization.

Automatic Dialing From Paris to U.S.

PARIS, May 3 (AP).—Direct dialing between Paris and any point in the United States went into effect Saturday. A test call placed here brought an instantaneous ring in New York.

To telephone a number in the United States from Paris, first dial 19; then tone change, dial No. 1; then without further waiting, dial the area code and the number of the telephone being called, a total of 13 figures. For example, to call The Washington Post: dial 19, tone change, dial 1-202 (District of Columbia area code)-223-8000 (The Washington Post number).

Calls from the United States to France still must be placed through overseas operators.

Pakistan Says India Creates Atmosphere of Confrontation

By Malcolm W. Browne

NEW DELHI, May 3 (UPI)—Pakistan said today it was exercising "the utmost patience and restraint" in its tense relations with India, and hoped the alleged Indian provocations would end.

In a second note today, Pakistan rejected Indian charges that Indian diplomats in the East Pakistan capital of Dacca had been virtually interned by Pakistani authorities.

The note said the Indian diplomats in question were free to move around Dacca, but were kept under escort "for security."

The note also demanded a restoration of the rights of Pakistani diplomats posted to Calcutta, India, charging that Indian authorities were subjecting the latter to "virtual confinement."

Radio Pakistan reported, meanwhile, that Gen. Tikka Khan, martial law administrator of East Pakistan, was in Dacca yesterday on an inspection tour for the first time since fighting began in the region on March 25.

The inspection trip was presumably intended to show that the environs of Dacca were now sufficiently pacified to permit the travel of high officials.

The general was appointed commander of East Pakistan when the fighting began and conducted the subsequent military campaign against Bengali separatists there.

Million Refugees Reported
GENEVA, May 3 (UPI)—There are now more than a million East Pakistan refugees in India, the League of Red Cross Societies said today.

The league said it has sent an urgent appeal to all national Red Cross organizations for immediate donations of money and relief supplies.

More than half of the refugees are sheltered in 153 camps along the Indian frontier with East Pakistan.

Appeal of Government
A spokesman said the action security forces was swift and alive in response to the new situation.

Added that the insurgents mounted new violence to keep the rank and file answering Prime Minister Shreeganga Bandaranaike's call to them to surrender.

A police station in Kalkatta, miles from Colombo, was set and burned yesterday, and were several other assaults on public buildings in Habarana, miles from here, and Polonnaruwa, 150 miles from the capital.

BELFAST BLAST—British troops examining the home of Police Superintendent Ross Laird after it was shattered by a bomb early yesterday. Mr. Laird, his wife, their daughter Mary, 15, and Mrs. Cecil Patterson, widow of a police inspector murdered by the IRA recently, narrowly escaped injury when they fled the house just seconds before the explosion after Mary saw smoke drifting outside the door.

IRA Is Blamed

Scotland Yard Homes in Ulster Bombed

BELFAST, May 3 (UPI)—The war against extremists in Northern Ireland sharpened today with the terrorist bombings of the homes of Scotland Yard's top detective in the province and a high-ranking aide.

A spurt of bombing attacks kept on tonight with blasts in a pub in the Belfast docks area and a small radio relay station on the city outskirts. Two men were slightly injured in the explosion at the pub.

Police said there were no injuries in the blast at the home of Chief Superintendent Ross Laird of the Yard's Special Branch. But the wife of Detective Inspector Samuel Kyle hurt an arm when she was knocked downstairs, and Inspector Kyle suffered face wounds.

The explosive charges, which went off within minutes of each other about noon yesterday, wrecked the two homes, about a mile apart in the same Belfast suburb, and blew out windows of about a dozen nearby homes.

Other explosions early today blew out the door and shattered a window of a large Protestant-owned downtown Belfast furniture store and shattered the doors and windows of two Catholic homes in Protestant neighborhoods.

"It's obvious they were IRA attacks," a police official said of the strikes at the Laird and Kyle homes. "The IRA is trying to undermine the work of the Special Branch."

Superintendent Laird and his men have been leading the fight to crush IRA extremists, who seek the forcible unification of the British province with the Irish Republic to the south. The Special Branch is an investigative division responsible for national security.

Northern Ireland Police Chief Graham Shillington appealed to the public to come forward with any information to end this terrorism. He said the bombers "not only had murderous intent on the two officers but a callous disregard for the lives of their families."

News Analysis Sabry's Ouster Attributed to Power Clash

By William Tuohy

BEIRUT, May 3.—The dramatic ouster yesterday of the pro-Soviet Aly Sabry as one of Egypt's two vice-presidents appears to be due to a combination of reasons, diplomatic sources believe.

The 53-year-old Mr. Sabry was President Anwar Sadat's closest rival for power in Egypt, and Mr. Sabry was known to have thought that he should have been chosen to succeed the late President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

Mr. Sabry, sources say, also resented the fact that he was usually listed after the other vice-president, Hussein el-Shafel, which appeared to indicate that he was "second" vice-president.

As a consequence, Mr. Sabry was thought to be building up his own power base in the Arab Socialist Union, the nation's only political party, of which he was secretary-general until the 1967 war with Israel.

Liaison With Russians

Mr. Sabry, too, was believed to be trying to establish his influence among the young army officers, particularly those entrusted with the air defense system supplied by the Soviet Union. An ex-air force man, Mr. Sabry was in charge of liaison with the Soviet experts who have installed the SAM missiles and the late-model MIG interceptors.

In a May Day speech, President Sadat warned of "centers of power," and emphasized that "no single group of individuals had the right to impose their views on others or oppose the will of the people."

Another key reason for Mr. Sabry's firing of his old comrade-in-arms—Mr. Sadat and the two vice-presidents are the only remaining members of the junta that overthrew King Farouk in 1952—is thought to be Mr. Sabry's reported opposition to Mr. Sadat's peace settlement initiatives. Mr. Sabry has taken a tougher line inside the Arab Socialist Union toward the peace talks, and he leads a faction that maintains that only a "military solution" will force the Israelis to withdraw from the Sinai Peninsula.

Mr. Sabry is also thought to believe that an arranged settlement, coming as a result of U.S. Secretary of State William F. Rogers's initiative, would tend to benefit the United States at the expense of the Soviet Union.

These views tended to put Mr. Sabry in conflict with Mr. Sadat, and thus was triggered the most serious domestic rupture in Mr. Sadat's six months as president. It is not clear what part differences in opinion about the proposed federation of Egypt, Syria, and Libya played in Mr. Sabry's ouster, but it seems evident that the Arab Socialist Union central committee had more reservations about the federation than did President Sadat.

The central committee only ratified the federation agreement after substantial amendments which loosened the federation and called for unanimous decisions in order that Egypt could not be outvoted by its partners. The fact that Mr. Sabry's ouster came only 48 hours before Mr. Rogers's visit, sources say, indicates how sharp the differences must have become. Sources speculated that Mr. Sadat did not want Mr. Sabry to participate in the talks with Secretary Rogers and his entourage.

It is not known whether Mr. Sabry has been removed from his other posts: He is a member of the nine-man higher executive committee of the ASU as well as a member of the 150-man central committee.

Though Mr. Sabry has long been identified as the most Soviet-leaning of the top Egyptian leaders, his ouster does not appear to signal any significant changes in relations between Cairo and Moscow.

But Mr. Sabry's firing does emphasize the mounting pressures on President Sadat to either obtain a favorable settlement from the Israelis—or break the cease-fire along the Suez Canal with another round of fighting.

French Tourism Takes to Horses

PERIGUEUX, France, May 3 (AP)—A tourist agency was doing turn-away business today with horse-drawn trailer houses in this area of southwestern France.

The agency has rented 25 of the trailer houses to tourists who want to watch nature go by at horse pace. The tours are similar to those available in Ireland for many years. The vehicles, equipped with four bunks and a refrigerator, are booked up in France through mid-September.

Obituaries

Cancer Kills Vanderwarker; Head of Cancer Center in N.Y.

NEW YORK, May 3 (UPI)—Richard D. Vanderwarker, 53, president of the Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center since 1964, died yesterday of cancer in the center's hospital.

Mr. Vanderwarker joined the institution in 1952 as general manager. His ability in hospital administration was recognized in his election in 1963 to the presidency of the Greater New York Hospital Association, and in 1963-65 as president of the Hospital Association of New York State. He served on special committees of the American Hospital Association.

Dr. Theodore K. Lawless, CHICAGO, May 3 (UPI)—Dr. Theodore K. Lawless, 78, a leading dermatologist who won the 1964 Spingarn Medal of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People for "distinguished merit and achievement among American Negroes," died Saturday.

Dr. Lawless, one of the first physicians to use radium as a treatment for cancer, was formerly on the faculty of the Medical School of Northwestern University. He had organized medical laboratories there and taught dermatology and syphilology from 1924 to 1941.

In addition to his medical work, Dr. Lawless had been president of the Service Federal Savings and Loan Association in Chicago, which was active in financing black business enterprises, and the 4212 South Michigan Corporation, which promoted low-cost housing.

Santiago Prados Elias, TARRAGONA, Spain, May 3 (AP)—Noted Spanish sculptor Santiago Prados Elias, 53, was killed in a car crash April 25. It was announced today. One of his best known works is a mosaic at the dome of the basilica of the Valley of the Fallen, near Madrid, a huge monument to the Spaniards killed in the Civil War.

Sarah Elizabeth Collins, TALLAPOOSA, Ga., May 3 (UPI)—Sarah Elizabeth Collins, an American Negro born into slavery, died Saturday at the reported age of 117.

A funeral home here said yesterday that records indicate Mrs. Collins was born in Randolph County, Ala., on Sept. 3, 1854—nearly nine years before President Abraham Lincoln issued the Emancipation Proclamation.

Rosario V. Mancuso, UTICA, N.Y., May 3 (AP)—Rosario V. Mancuso, 64, one of the 50 or so reputed underworld figures who attended the 1967 meeting at Apalachin, N.Y., died yesterday.

Ghalya Badr Said, PORTSMOUTH, England, May 3 (UPI)—Princess Ghalya Badr Said, 22, niece of the deposed Sultan of Zanzibar, drowned yesterday when a dinghy in which she was a passenger collided with a British rail ferry entering Portsmouth harbor. The sultan and his family have lived at Portsmouth since he went into exile following a coup in 1964.

Iraqi Bomber, Russia Bound, Down in Turkey

ANKARA, May 3 (Reuters)—Officials said today a Soviet-built bomber of the Iraqi Air Force made an emergency landing at Ankara today escorted by Turkish jet fighters after technical trouble apparently forced it off course.

The Iraqi plane, a twin-jet Tupolev Tu-16, was one of three given routine overflight permission on a flight from Iraq to Odessa in the Soviet Union.

Turkish officials said the plane left Turkish air space and flew out over the Black Sea, but then was spotted by radar turning back over Turkish territory. Turkish Air Force jets took off to investigate and escorted it to Ankara. It carried a six-man crew in civilian clothes.

Art That You Can Walk On

By Dick Roraback

PARIS.—The outside door to the entrance hall burst open and four dogs, followed by an indeterminate number of children, scrambled maniacally across Ingrid Bergman's tiled floor, chasing whatever it is dogs chase on early spring afternoons.

Whatever it was never had a chance, and the posse, satisfied, turned tail, sniffed perfunctorily at Henri Matisse and charged back into the gumbos.

Matisse, a shaggy and sensitive Paris photographer, peered out from behind a clutter of equipment, glanced up to a window through which the sun was finally making the scene, then looked down at the tiles: "Ah," he said, "Magnifique. Jean-Pierre, shift that spot about six feet to the left, will you?"

"Just one second, please," said Miss Bergman, moving through the debris with about as much regal grace as anyone could muster in slacks, sweater and apron-like boots. "Let me just move this out of your way."

Defiantly and surely she shifted a large pot from one side of the hall to the other.

"Gord!" whispered a journalist's wife, nudging her husband in the ribs. "That's a Matisse!"

"Merci," said Matisse, squinting again through his lens. Then, to himself: "Ah. Vraiment magnifique."

Magnifique it was, too, this dog-proof, Mink-proof, mud-proof, tripod-proof floor that looked as though it had been created for this particular living space—as indeed it had.

Technically, the tiles, of fired clay, are hexagonal in shape, some 14 inches in diameter, crafted with a light bas-relief surface and a hand-rubbed wax patina suggesting the color and surface of mottled leather.

Aesthetically, the effect of the tiled floor is as natural, charming and utilitarian as the cobblestoned roads of the suburban French village a short walk away. Like virtually all of the accoutrements of the converted garage that is the home of Miss Bergman and husband Lars Schmidt—like Miss Bergman herself, for that matter—the tiles are undeniably beautiful without a hint of the meretricious. In other words, just right.

Handmade by the Schmidts three years ago by ceramicist Dionisio Poulanos, the floor, in its content, also looks as basic and timeless as the earth from which it sprang, great globs of which were currently accumulating in Miss Bergman's foyer.

The artist himself was present at the photo session, having flown up from his Rome studio as forerunner of a four-cat caravan. And that the shooting match was ever organized at all at the home of Miss Bergman—who is not exactly in the habit of holding open house for the press—was a tribute to the enthusiasm of Joe Feinberg.

In a world of affluence increasingly conscious of tiling as an adjunct to gracious living, Joe and Dionisio are partners in the best sense of the word.

On the surface, they make an odd couple, the super-dapper Miami macher, gregarious and effervescent, and the swarthy, introspective Greek whose sad eyes, at the mention of ceramics, take on the tinge and magic of Florence at sunset.

One Voice
On their common ground, however, the partners speak with one voice. "I design and sell tiles," says Joe. "I also communicate as much with tiles as with the people who buy them."

"My friends are my clients," echoes Dionisio, "and my clients are my friends."

Each started with little more than a lump of raw material; each has developed and expanded his talents according to the mores of his respective continent. Feinberg, ex-pottery salesman and architectural-drawing student, had his vision considerably in advance of the American trend toward tiles. "Thirteen years ago," he said, "I saw the picture. Only it wasn't there yet."

What was there, in fact, was a defunct tile plant in South Miami, a ramshackle warehouse that only a Feinberg could love. Joe bought the place, and in the tradition of pre-beatnik America, rolled up his sleeves.

"I could see the coming influence of the Mediterranean and Caribbean styles," he says now, a remarkable insight for a young man whose own early influence derived from the trowel-clime of Mount Vernon, N. Y. "Today the feeling is in."

"Nixon on Up!"
An idea of just how in it is can be gleaned from the combined mailing lists of Feinberg's Designers Flooring Company and Poulanos's Panagra Studio in Rome.

"Our clients," said the irrepressible custom-tiler in Paris the other day, "include everyone from Nixon on up," to: Bebe Rebozo, Lily Pulitzer, Eleanor Holm, Victor Borge in St. Croix, and on this side of the pond, Federico Fellini, Sumi Reda, Agnelli, Queen Mother Frederika of Greece.

It was during one of Feinberg's early trips to southern Europe in search of inspiration and materials, particularly "Cathedral blue and Cardinal red" for the restoration of the Cathedral of St. Augustine—that Joe met Dionisio Poulanos, an inspired ceramic artist.

At the time—eight years ago—what Joe was doing in cement was doing in ceramics. The partnership, with designs created by both men, provides a nearly limitless inventory of tiling to suit every taste—with the one quid non that the client has one—and in retrospect it was a felicitous meeting for both. Joe, for his part, gained instant access to the relatively arcane and distinctive art of Dionisio, who also could and would execute Joe's own designs in a manner impossible to duplicate.

At the same time, Dionisio found an affluent and growing market that would free him to create on his own terms, to say "no" to the old customer whose lack of taste offended him, for Dionisio's touch is personal to an extent virtually unheard of across the Atlantic.

"It is important for me to know the personality of my client," said Dionisio, who was born in Athens of a family of artists and went to Rome 20 years ago. "I must know his feelings, his taste."

Personality
If anything, Dionisio's beginnings in the tile trade were humbler even than Joe's. "My studio was tiny," he recalled. "My staff was small. Very small. It was me."

"Even now, you know, it is not very big—maybe 15 people. I have a lot of friends—designers, architects, sculptors, artists—and they come to the studio and we exchange ideas. Me, I know nothing alone. I ask my friends. The ideas merge."

"Then I work. Sometimes I stay in the studio and I forget to eat, forget to sleep. The colors and the shapes—it's like madness. It's beautiful."

One of his friends is Ingrid Bergman ("I have known her for 30 years. She is like a sister"), for whom Dionisio also designed the tiles of a summer house on an island off Sweden.

Before tackling the tiles in the entrance hall for the Schmidts' home near Paris, Dionisio did the bathroom floor and walls with a soft gray background with a relief design painted in white, and the floor of the pool house—a French design with a pebbly surface and insets of glazed ceramic, also hand painted, but this time by Schmidt.

When the Schmidts decided to redecorate the main house, converting the former kitchen into the foyer, Dionisio flew up again to survey the situation. "There was nothing there," he said, "only a ruin. I wanted to do something special." ("Sometimes you furnish a room after it's built," said Miss Bergman, "or you decorate a room around a particular piece of furniture. In this case, we built the hall around the floor.")

"I'm very satisfied," said Dionisio, who often isn't. "Because I did it with Ingrid and Lars and they both have wonderful taste. When clients have such good taste it helps me more than you could imagine..."

Interrupting the artist, the outside door flew open again and the posse of dogs scattered and scrambled across the custom-made hexagonal tiles with the light bas-relief and the hand-rubbed wax patina and disappeared again in the general direction of the pool house.

The feeling persisted that the canine antics were something like playing hopscotch on the Sistine Chapel ceiling, until a maid appeared and, with a few swipes of a damp cloth, restored the tiles to their pristine state.

"Beautiful," said Joe Feinberg, bringing everything back to earth. "Beautiful. Did you ever see a work of art you can walk on?"

FOOD

Top Quality in French Cheeses

By Jon Winroth

PARIS.—One day, in a fit of exasperation at his fellow countrymen, Charles de Gaulle exclaimed: "Que voulez-vous... on ne peut rassembler à froid un pays qui compte 865 spécialités de fromage." (Roughly, "What can you expect, one cannot unify a country that has 265 different kinds of cheese.")

He underestimated the problem. "It would be theoretically possible to eat a different French cheese every day of the year, although only about 200 varieties are regularly marketed," says merchant Christian Cantin.

For an ex-fisherman from the Vendée forced by an accident 20 years ago to leave the sea, Mr. Cantin has done all right. His little shop in the 16th Arrondissement may not look very impressive, but he can count three-star restaurants, the French Senate and the president of the French Republic among his clients.

Enthusiasm

He succeeded because he does everything with enthusiasm. He is so active that after a full day with him just when you are ready to call it quits, he is getting warmed up for a night out. Then it comes to you that he walks with a bad limp, a reminder of the accident that made him switch from fishing to selling dairy products.

You do not see it immediately because you are captivated by his broad grin and swept along in an unbroken stream of banter. From behind tinted glasses his eyes sparkle, but he says nothing. They also size up cheeses at a glance. When he started out 20 years ago, Mr. Cantin decided to sell only the best; it took him time to find choice and reliable peasant producers. The cheeses vary according to season. For instance, spring is the beginning of the period for goat cheeses. These are best when the goats are eating fresh grass. Prices run a little higher, but Cantin has the difference in quality from the average store is enormous. This has a drawback. Once you have tasted Mr. Cantin's cheeses, you will not want to go back to your neighborhood crémier. You will find yourself, as I have, crossing town once or twice a week to buy a supply of cheese, wonderfully tasty and fresh farm eggs, yogurts, butter (especially that of Echiré), buttermilk and raw, unskimmed milk.

Pasteurization

The milk is unpasteurized but it comes from inspected herds. Pasteurization is fatal to quality in cheese. It helps it keep, but it kills the taste along with the bacteria.

Unless they are to undergo long voyages even soft cheeses have no need for preservation. At home they will keep several days in a cool cupboard or in the refrigerator well away from the freezing compartment.

They should be kept in plastic boxes or aluminum foil, both to keep from drying out and to avoid smelling up the rest of the refrigerator. Most important, Mr. Cantin insists, is that they be taken out at least half an hour before serving to allow them to resume normal temperature, appearance and consistency.

Serving cheese is always a problem. Should one offer just a huge, flat wheel of Brie or half a dozen assorted cheeses? And which ones? It doesn't matter if you are dealing with cheese lovers, but a variety should have something to please everyone.

For that matter, a cheese buffet is one of the pleasantest and easiest ways to entertain. A few olives and cold cuts to begin with, a dozen or so cheeses with appropriate wines and a large tart for dessert to end on, require no preparation and little cleanup.

The platter should contain cheeses of each main category and there should be at least one wine for each category, depending on the number of guests... Mr. Cantin is always ready to help with advice. Here are the basic types listed in the order in which they and their accompanying wines should be tasted:

Goat's cheeses and best with light, fruity wines of any color (white, Sancerre, red Bourgogne). The same wines go with "pressed" cheeses such as Cantal, Tomme de Savoie and Saint-Nectaire.

Cheeses with a croûte fleurie ("flowered" rind, from the white mold on it) such as Camembert and Brie call for a light red (Beaujolais, Bourgogne).

Christian Cantin in his Paris shop.

The strong-tasting croûtes fleuries (whose rinds have literally been washed with beer or brandy) such as Pont-l'Évêque, Livarot and Maroilles are perfect for vigorous red Burgundies. This is equally true for Munster, but in Alsace they drink Gewürztraminer or beer with it. Beer will also do very nicely with "cooked" cheeses such as Gruyère. Or serve them with a good dry white or a full-bodied red Burgundy or Bordeaux.

Belmont Group

The last and richest group is that of the blue cheeses, including the great, and inimitable Roquefort, made from sheep's milk. They can take any wine up to the great reds of Bordeaux, Burgundy and the Rhône Valley. Sauternes is also wonderful with Roquefort.

But if in doubt, Mr. Cantin will gladly make up decorated cheese platters complete with labels for cheese parties.

And he will answer questions, such as do you eat butter with cheese (no, unless the cheese is a bit old or hard), or should you cut off the rind. (That depends. Obviously, if it's hard or pungent, but there is no reason to wish the likes of Camembert, Brie or most goat's cheeses. In sum, do as you wish.)

Muste: Florence Festival Opens

By William Weaver

FLORENCE.—Last year, the events of the Florentine Maggio Musicale festival were arranged, for the most part, around a central theme: European culture between the two world wars. For the 1971 edition of the Maggio, which opened Friday night, the festival's enterprising artistic director, Roman Vlad, has again established a leading motive: Western music and the influence of non-European civilizations. In the course of the next weeks, we will see Western school-plays "Der Jasager" and "Der Neinsager," influenced by Japanese drama, Puccini's "Turandot" with its fairy-tale China, and other exotic works.

The opening event was a carefully prepared and splendidly executed performance of Meyerbeer's "L'Africaine," given in Italian translation. This opera is rarely performed, like all of Meyerbeer's operas which now have the reputation of being more historically interesting than just plain enjoyable. Well, "L'Africaine" is downright good listening, at least for a lot of the time. It is, admittedly, a long piece (the Florence performance started at 8:30 p.m. and ended well after 1 a.m., with three intermissions); some scenes—like the next to last one—ask a bit. But the grand moments still work: Selika, the African girl of the title, actually Indian) sings a lovely, stirring duet in Act II, there is a rapt prayer in Act III, and Selika's final death scene is a long, moving elegy.

Florence was lucky to have young American dramatic soprano Jesse Norman for the difficult critical title role. This artist who has begun a promising career in Germany, made a sensation at last year's Spoleto Festival, in some brief song recitals. She proves to be equally at home on the opera stage, moving with great dignity and singing with real dramatic insight. The voice is still young, still developing; but it is obviously being used with intelligence. The great Wagnerian roles lie just ahead.

There are always two leading ladies in Meyerbeer's operas, and the role of Selika—highborn Portuguese lady in love with Vasco da Gama, also loved by Selika—was sensitively, sweetly sung by Mieta Sighele. The tenor has the hit tune, "O paradiso," which has been recorded by every great singer from Caruso on. Veriano Luchetti is a gifted, tasteful young artist, who sang the role and the famous aria—with impressive musicality. The voice is really not of the heroic proportions Meyerbeer demands, but Luchetti wisely did not force it beyond its strength. One would like to hear him in more congenial parts. As Nalisco, the Indian leader, Gian Giacomo Guerri blustered less than usual and was therefore more than usually effective. The smaller roles were also well cast, with Agostino Perrin a fine Don Pedro.

Riccardo Muti, the Florence Orchestra's permanent conductor, confirmed his position as one of Italy's most gifted young musicians. It was a task, but unhurried reading, alive to the richness and variety of Meyerbeer's score. Franco Brucini staged the work simply, rightly, in Florentine. Mariani's beautiful sets (only Vasco's ship was a little cramped). Miss Mariani also designed the attractive costumes.

Caravaggio to Be Auctioned

LONDON, May 3 (AP).—A long-lost painting by the 17th-century Italian painter Caravaggio, found hanging in the home of a family who had no idea of its value, is to be auctioned here next month.

The work is "Martha Reproving Mary for Her Vanity" which Christie's, the London auctioneer, expects to fetch a six-figure price when it comes up for sale June 28.

The sale room is keeping the origins of the 35 by 52-1/2-inch painting, last seen in public in Italy in 1897, a tight secret.

David Carrick, Christie's fine arts consultant and the man who tracked it down, would say only that he discovered the picture while on a foreign tour. He refused even to identify the country of the owner with whom he negotiated for 18 months.

The picture was brought to Britain for the sale. The painting shows Martha reproving Mary who is seated, sumptuously dressed, in front of a mirror and holding a flower.

Michelangelo Merisi da Caravaggio was 37 when he died in 1610 but is considered by art experts to be one of half a dozen crucial figures in European painting. He is regarded as the father of realism in European art and Rembrandt, Rubens, Velasquez and Vermeer were influenced by him.

Examples of Caravaggio's work are rare and the largest collections are still in Italy.

International Herald Tribune Readers: This INTRODUCTORY OFFER brings you

$400.00-A-MONTH TAX-FREE CASH WHENEVER YOU GO TO THE HOSPITAL

-Only 25¢ covers your entire family for the first month

- ★ Pays you cash at the rate of $400.00 a month for each hospital stay...even for life, if necessary.
- ★ Pays in addition to any other companies' coverage you have—including Medicare.

- ★ Pays all cash direct to you (not to doctor or hospital).
- ★ Guaranteed Renewable for Life. National Home guarantees never to cancel your protection no matter how old you become or how many claims you have.

No salesman will call—No medical examination required—No age limit

ACT NOW—YOUR ENROLLMENT FORM MUST BE MAILED BY MIDNIGHT, THURS., MAY 13, OR IT CANNOT BE ACCEPTED

One out of two families will have someone in the hospital this year! It could be you—or some beloved member of your family—tomorrow...next week...next month. Sad to say, very few families have anywhere near enough coverage to meet today's soaring hospital costs. These costs have doubled in just a few short years.

Stop for a moment. Think how much a long stay in the hospital will cost you or a loved one. How would you ever pay for costly, but necessary, X-rays, doctor bills, drugs and medicines? Many have learned the hard way that public and private insurance pays only 40% of the nation's total medical care bill. What would you do if your pay check stopped, but living expenses kept going on the same as ever? The same rent, phone, food, all the day-to-day expenses that never stop.

What is the average breadwinner to do? We believe we have the answer in our National Home plan that...

Pays you $400.00-a-month tax-free cash whenever you are hospitalized.

What a blessing it is when you know you have $400.00 cash coming in every month when you go to the hospital. You get your $400.00-a-month cash—tax-free—as long as you are confined in the hospital. You are covered from the very first day for accidents and from the sixth day for sickness—even for life, if necessary! Most everyone has some insurance or savings to take care of a one to five-day hospital stay. Since we provide lifetime benefits, this "deductible" feature enables us to give you broad coverage at a lower cost than would otherwise be possible.

Now, this low-cost plan from National Home enables you to enjoy this protection at once. Your introductory rate is just 25¢ for the first month's coverage for your entire family. Then, you may continue at National Home's regular low rates.

The added protection you NEED!

All benefits of the $400.00-a-month plan are paid directly to you, in tax-free cash, in addition to whatever you may receive from your insurance with any other company! Use the money as you see fit—for hospital or doctor bills, mortgage or rent payments, to replace savings—or any necessary, but costly, expenses not covered by other hospital policies.

Everything costs more these days (need we tell you?) and hospital care is certainly no exception! While 7 out of 8 Americans have some hospital insurance, most have found it does not cover all bills that pile up when sickness or accident strikes. That's why National Home developed this low-cost plan that helps you pay hospital costs or other expenses.

We can never cancel your policy!

You can count on this wonderful protection no matter how old you become or how many times you collect from us. Your policy guarantees that we can never cancel your protection for any reason whatsoever. It is Guaranteed Renewable for Life!

And that's not all. Suppose you have a growing family—this policy (NH10-669)...

PAYS $400.00-A-MONTH CASH for each accident or illness. Coverage for accidents begins the very first day in the hospital; sickness coverage begins the sixth day in the hospital.

PAYS $200.00-A-MONTH CASH for the first three months, when you're 65 or over. And a full $400.00-A-MONTH CASH thereafter—even for life. Coverage for accidents begins the very first day in the hospital; sickness coverage begins the sixth day in the hospital.

PAYS $240.00-A-MONTH CASH if a covered child is hospitalized for injury or illness. Coverage for accidents begins the very first day in the hospital; sickness coverage begins the sixth day in the hospital. And the benefits continue for as long as necessary.

PAYS $1,600.00-A-MONTH CASH when both husband and wife (under age 65) are hospitalized at the same time for accident or illness for as long as both remain in the hospital—even for life, if necessary.

PAYS $400.00-A-MONTH CASH for a registered nurse at home if your doctor has you hire one within five days following a covered hospital confinement of five days or more.

PAYS up to $2,000.00 CASH for complete accidental loss of limbs or eyesight.

65 OR OVER? YOU COLLECT IN ADDITION TO MEDICARE BENEFITS

We have designed this plan as a valuable addition to whatever is paid by Medicare—or health insurance you may have with any other companies. In fact, combined public and private insurance covers only about 57% of the total medical costs for people 65 or over. Remember, all checks will be sent directly to you (not to the doctor or hospital), to give you that "extra" help just when you need it most. Use the tax-free cash any way you see fit. In addition to any benefits you may receive from Medicare, this National Home plan pays you at the rate of $200.00 a month for the first 3 months, and $400.00 monthly while hospitalized thereafter...even for life if necessary!

Pays you $240.00-a-month cash whenever any dependent child is hospitalized.

When you choose Coverage for Children, all your unmarried dependent children from age one month through 18 years are covered, too! What's more, any newborn children you have in the future are covered automatically at the age of one month—no additional cost to you. And whenever any of your children go to the hospital, this National Home plan pays you at the rate of $240.00-a-month cash, for as long as necessary. Children are covered for accidents from the first day and for sickness from the sixth day.

Pays you tax-free cash Maternity Benefits, too.

With this plan, you can also collect cash at the rate of $400.00 a month for every day you are confined to the hospital for pregnancy, childbirth, or even miscarriage. You get this cash, which is yours to use as you see fit, when Coverage for Children and Maternity Benefits have been added to the basic plan. Of course, both parents must be enrolled in this plan for the entire period of pregnancy.

Pays you $400.00-a-month cash for a Registered Nurse at Home.

Here's a wonderful "get well" benefit of this National Home plan: You collect cash benefits at the rate of $400.00 a month when your doctor has you employ a full-time registered nurse within five days after you come home, following a stay in the hospital of five days or more for which benefits were payable. You are paid for the same number of covered days that you were in the hospital—even up to 12 full months!

Double Cash Accident Benefit.

When you and your insured spouse are hospitalized at the same time for an accidental injury, this National Home plan pays you an EXTRAORDINARY DOUBLE CASH BENEFIT. You receive not $400.00 but $800.00 a month. Your spouse receives not $400.00 but $800.00 a month. That's $1,600.00 in all, in cash payments to you every month (when under age 65) starting the day you enter the hospital for as long as you both remain there.

Pays you up to $2,000.00 cash for these accidental losses...

The accidental loss of limbs or eyesight can be terrible. But if such loss occurs any time within 90 days of the accident, you collect $1,000.00 for the complete loss of a hand or a foot, the sight of an eye—and $2,000.00 for loss of two limbs or the sight of both eyes.

Waiver of premium benefit.

Should you—the policyowner—be hospitalized for 8 consecutive weeks or more, this National Home plan will PAY ALL PREMIUMS that come due for you and all Covered Members of your family while you are confined to the hospital beyond the initial 8-week period. And your protection continues just the same as if you were paying the premiums yourself. Then, if you leave the hospital and must return for the same condition before you have resumed all normal activities for 90 days, we will again pay any premiums while you are in the hospital—for the total confinement! This means you pay no premiums, yet your full protection remains in force.

These are the ONLY exclusions!

Your National Home policy covers every kind of sickness or accident except conditions caused by: act of war; any mental disease or disorder; pregnancy, except as provided under the Maternity Benefit provision; and any sickness or injury you had before the Effective Date of your policy...during the first 2 years only.

This last item is a real help if you already have a health problem. If you are sick before you take out this policy, you will even be covered for that condition after the policy has been in effect for 2 years. Meanwhile, of course, every new condition is covered.

Nationally known and respected.

This is the kind of outstanding protection you may have seen in Reader's Digest, Parents', National Geographic and other leading publications. The special plans offered by the National Liberty Corporation group of companies are today helping policyowners in all 50 states and many foreign countries—paying benefits at the rate of more than $1,500,000.00 a month. In addition, our Company has a RECOMMENDED rating from Best's Insurance Reports, one of the foremost insurance authorities in the nation.

Fast, reliable claim service when needed most.

You never really know how good a policy is until you have to make a claim. That's why we think you'll be interested in what some of our National Home members have to say. Their comments—quoted below—are typical of the hundreds of expressions of appreciation we receive from policyowners every week.

"Received your checks totaling $585.68 for injury. I appreciated your kindness and promptness in the claim. It certainly came in handy and I had less worries knowing I had this protection. You certainly paid all the benefits stated in the policy without question." Mrs. ANGELA B. HARDY, Abbeville, Louisiana

"You folks were very prompt in sending the money when my wife went to the hospital for surgery. Thank you so much." HAROLD DOVENBERG, Zanesville, Ohio

"I was more than satisfied with the way my claim was handled. One couldn't ask for better service and the 'get well soon' message was one of the nicest thoughts on your part. I thank you sincerely." MARGUERITE LINDAT, Duluth, Minnesota

Outstanding Americans like these Recommend this Coverage.

DR. E. STANLEY JONES, internationally known cardiologist, author, missionary statesman: "In offering low-cost health insurance by mail, you are rendering a valuable service to thousands of people who have no other opportunity to avail themselves of such protection. It's reassuring to know that policyowners insured by the National Liberty group are receiving more than $1,500,000.00 a month in benefits."

JEROME HINES, leading bass with the Metropolitan Opera Company: "It seems to me that the concept of health insurance by mail is a very sensible one. It's quick, easy and economical. Nobody makes surprise visits to your home to ask personal questions. There's no medical examination. And costly processing charges are eliminated. This means more protection at less cost. I congratulate National Home Life Assurance Company for meeting a real need."

National Liberty commended in the Congressional Record of the United States Congress

National Home Life Corporation, parent of National Home Life Assurance Company, has been commended in the United States Congressional Record for bringing low-cost insurance to the general public: "National Liberty deserves recognition for providing service beyond the expense and, more importantly, offering to those who are not being cared for in other ways. This is the secret of success for its low-cost insurance plans. With the highest public interest at heart, the National Liberty Corporation group of companies combines reliability and quality of service with noteworthy price advantages. It is to be commended on its leadership and vision in this field of human welfare."

Why you must act before the date shown on your Enrollment Form—just a few days from today.

Why do we give you so little time to enroll in this plan? Because this is a guaranteed enrollment offer, we can open the enrollment only during a limited time period—with a firm deadline date for everyone. To provide you with this broad coverage at these rates, we must receive your Enrollment Form during the same period as all the others.

As soon as we receive your Enrollment Form we will rush your policy to you by First Class Mail. When your policy arrives, examine it in the privacy of your own home. It is a very short document and you'll be pleasantly surprised to see there is no fine print. Show it, if you wish, to your doctor, lawyer, insurance agent, or some other trusted advisor.

Here are your low rates.

The following rate chart shows how little it costs after the first month to cover yourself, your spouse and any adult dependent. Naturally, at these low rates, we can issue you only one policy of this type. Each adult, 16 or over, pays the rate shown for his or her age.

Age at Enrollment	Monthly Premium per Adult
16-44	only $2.45
45-49	only $2.85
50-54	only $3.15
55-74	only $3.65
75-79	only $4.15
80-84	only $4.65
85 and over	only $5.75

Only $1.30 more per month covers all your unmarried dependent children...from the age of one month through 18 years. Newborn children are covered automatically at the age of one month—at no additional cost. And then if you wish, just add $95 monthly to that, and you're covered for Maternity Benefits, too.

NOTE: The regular monthly premium shown here (the age at time of enrollment) will not automatically increase as you pass from one age bracket to the next. Once you have enrolled in this National Home plan, your rate can never be changed because of how much or how often you collect from us—or because of advanced age—but only if there is a general rate adjustment, up or down, on all policies of this type in your entire state!

Act NOW—"Later" May Be Too Late!

Just 25¢ covers you and your family for first month. TIME IS PRECIOUS! Act quickly. (No salesman will call.) Get your Enrollment Form into the mail today—because once you suffer an accident or sickness, it's TOO LATE to buy protection at any cost. That's why we urge you to act today—before anything unexpected happens.

Medical Costs Skyrocketing!

YOUR QUESTIONS ANSWERED ABOUT THIS NATIONAL HOME PLAN

- How much will I be paid when I go to the hospital?
You will receive cash at the rate of $400.00 a month ($13.33 a day). When you're 65 or over, you collect (in addition to any Medicare benefits) $200.00 a month for the first 3 months, and $400.00 monthly while you remain continuously hospitalized thereafter. And you collect cash for an accident even if you're in the hospital for only one day. Coverage for illness begins the sixth day—and benefits are paid in full for as long as you're hospitalized...even for life, if necessary.
- Do you pay me cash when my children go to the hospital?
You collect cash at the rate of $240.00 a month whenever any of your children (age 1 month through 18 years) go to the hospital. If Coverage for Children is added to the basic plan, coverage for accidents begins on the first day—sickness on the sixth day. And if you have a growing family—as soon as any newborn child is one month old, he, too, is covered—automatically...at no additional cost.
- When do I start to collect hospital benefits?
This new plan (NH10-669) covers you from the very first day for accidents and from the sixth day for sickness—even for life, if necessary! Most everyone has some insurance or savings to take care of a one to five-day hospital stay. Since we provide lifetime benefits, this "deductible" feature enables us to give you broad coverage at a lower cost than would otherwise be possible.
- Will you pay me cash benefits for pregnancy?
Yes, when Coverage for Children and Maternity Benefits have been added to the basic plan. You collect cash at the rate of $400.00 a month while pregnant, childbirth or miscarriage while you are in a hospital stay. (Both parents have to be enrolled in this plan for entire pregnancy period.)
- Suppose I'm hospitalized for a long time and can't meet my premium payments?
If you—the policyowner—are hospitalized for 8 consecutive weeks or more, this plan will PAY ALL PREMIUMS that come due for you and all Covered Members of your family while you are confined to the hospital beyond the initial 8-week period. Your aren't expected to pay us back, either.
- Now tell me what's the "catch"—what doesn't my policy cover?
Get ready for a welcome surprise. Your policy covers everything except conditions caused by: act of war; any mental disease or disorder; pregnancy, except as provided under the Maternity Benefit provision; confinements within a U.S. Government hospital or a nursing or convalescent facility; and any sickness or injury you had before the Effective Date of your policy—but even this last "exclusion" is done away with after you've been a policyowner for only two years. Everything else is definitely covered.
- What are the requirements to enroll in this National Home plan?
You must not have been refused or had cancelled any health, hospital or life insurance due to reasons of health; and to qualify during this Enrollment Period—you must enroll before midnight of the date shown on the Enrollment Form.
- Besides saving money—are there any other advantages to joining this plan during this Enrollment Period?
Yes. A very important one is that you don't need to complete a lengthy, detailed application—just the brief Enrollment Form in the corner of this page. Also, during this Enrollment Period there are no extra requirements for eligibility, and no "waivers" or restrictive endorsements can be put on your policy!
- How do I enroll?
Fill out the brief Enrollment Form and mail it via Air Mail, with just 25¢ in U.S. currency, for the first month's protection for your entire family. Mail to: National Home, Valley Forge, Pa. 19481, U.S.A.

HERE'S ALL YOU DO TO RECEIVE YOUR POLICY:

1. Complete this brief Enrollment Form.
2. Cut out along dotted line.
3. Enclose Form in envelope with 25¢ in U.S. currency and send it via Air Mail, to: National Home, Valley Forge, Pa. 19481, U.S.A.

To amend Article 20, paragraph 2 of the by-laws which will read as follows: (English translation of original French text).

The Board of Directors is authorized to institute reserve accounts in addition to the legal reserve. The Board of Directors will institute an Extraordinary reserve out of the funds cashed by the company as issue premiums. This reserve may be utilized:

- a) For writing off the portfolio losses and depreciations;
- b) For redeeming the shares the company will buy back from its shareholders or for granting its guaranty to its subsidiaries which will buy the shares of the company.

The portion of the issue premium applied to the income equalization account will, however, not be entered this Extraordinary reserve.

To attend the Extraordinary Meeting the Holders of of 100 shares are requested to lodge their shares five days before the Meeting with one of the undermentioned banks:

- Banque de Paris et des Pays-Bas pour le Grand-Duché de Luxembourg in Luxembourg;
- Banque de Paris et des Pays-Bas in Paris, Geneva,
 Brussels, London and Amsterdam;
- Banca Commerciale Italiana, head office and branch.

The Meeting will proceed with the agenda whatever the capital representation. The resolutions will be adopted by a two-thirds majority of the votes subject to the application of the legal presumptions of attendance and adhesion.

The Board of Directors.

The quorum required by law not having been met at the Extraordinary General Meeting of Shareholders held on 27th of April, 1971, the Shareholders of our Company are invited to take part in a second Extraordinary General Meeting which will be held at 23, Avenue de la Porte-Neuve, Luxembourg, on June 24, 1971, at 3 p.m., for the following purposes, namely:

To amend Article 19, paragraph 2 of the by-laws which will read as follows (English translation of original French text):

The Board of Directors is authorized to institute reserve accounts in addition to the legal reserve. The Board of Directors will institute an extraordinary reserve out of funds cashed by the Company as issue premiums. This reserve may be utilized:

- For writing off the portfolio losses and depreciations;
- For redeeming the shares the Company will buy back from its shareholders or for granting its guaranty to its subsidiaries which will buy the shares of the Company.

The portion of the issue premium applied to the income equalization account will, however, not be entered in this extraordinary reserve.

To attend the extraordinary Meeting the Holders of Bearer shares are requested to lodge their shares five days before the Meeting with one of the undermentioned banks:

- Banque de Paris et des Pays-Bas pour le Grand-Duché de Luxembourg, in Luxembourg;
- Banque de Paris et des Pays-Bas in Paris, Geneva, Brussels, London and Amsterdam;
- Banca Commerciale Italiana head office and branches.

The Meeting will proceed with the agenda whatever the capital representation. The resolutions will be adopted by a two thirds majority of the votes subject to the application of the legal presumptions of attendance and adhesion.

Tobacco, Liquor Ads

VANCOUVER, British Columbia, May 3 (NYT).—This Canadian province has banned all liquor and tobacco advertising starting Sept. 1.

Leslie Peterson, British Columbia's attorney general, said that the government would have to exempt publications from outside the province from the ban. He drew an analogy to autumn: "A new leaves may blow in from your neighbor's yard but that's no reason not to try and clean up your own yard."

1.5 percent or $1.5 billion in March to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $102.7 billion, reversing February's upward revised increase of $2.4 billion, the Commerce Department reported.

riété Générale de Banque, the leading Belgian bank, has just published its annual report which has been submitted to the General Meeting of Shareholders on April 27, 1971. One of the main features of the year 1970 was characterized by a continued expansion of the internationalization of its activities as well as by the development of the Net profit balance for 1970, after allowing for depreciation, was 1,067,674.381 Belgian francs against 552,535.168 francs in 1969, to which must be added the balance brought forward of 1969 amounting to 163,287.714 francs. Net profit per share, based on the whole of the shares issued, amounts to 285 francs whereas in 1969 it was 293 francs, a decrease of 14.2%.

total deposits and current accounts amounted to 136,606,204.475 francs. This is by 14,108,182.213 francs than at the end of 1969. Cash notes shown at 136,606 francs against 6,788,105,000 in 1969. Total customers deposits and cash notes advanced by 12.1% over the year. Bankers and affiliates deposits exceeded 60 billion against 40 billion at the end of 1969.

the continuous expansion in world trade, and the fact that banking business is becoming increasingly international, are at the background of the further expansion in number of new conventions were made by the Bank for financing the supply of goods of Belgian manufacture. Among the countries with which these agreements were made were Brazil, Chile, Thailand, Singapore, Rumania and Bulgaria. On the one hand the Bank financed, in various forms and not only through direct credit to the buyers or their banks, a large number of supplies of Belgian industrial equipment for the construction of a copper refinery to Chile, a power station to Taiwan, a glassworks to Turkey and a ship to the United Kingdom.

The Bank also participated, jointly with other international banks, in the formation of the Financial Associates, The Hague and that of Euro-Pacific Finance Corporation, Malabar.

BRIDGE

By Alan Truscott

South opened with one diamond and West made a conservative one-spade overall, after which North naturally bid two hearts.

His partner's jump to three no-trump over South's two spades was tactical: South expected to be able to run seven diamond tricks, with the spade ace and a trick in his partner's hand, making a total of nine.

The remainder of the auction was a three-trick circus. West doubled no-trump four times, each time with more vigor than reason: He could have judged that South held long, strong diamonds, together with the spade ace, and he could not know that his partner could stop the diamonds.

North kept retreating to hearts, judging quite reasonably that hearts would produce more tricks for the partnership than no-trump.

South stuck grimly to the make North dummy system, partly to give his great skill a chance to operate in the play, and partly through reluctance to expose his hand for general inspection in the dummy. North finally gave up at six no-trump.

Six no-trump doubled was one trick too high, as can be seen. After the lead of the spade king, removing South's stopper, there were 10 top tricks, with an 11th available through a finesse in diamonds.

But the defense was less than perfect. When the hearts were run, West failed to signal in clubs to show his ace. East then fell between two stools by trying to keep both minor suits, an impossible task. He parted with two diamonds, one too many, and South finessed in diamonds and made the doubled slam with an overtrick.

"Wouldn't I have made six hearts?" Inquired North afterward. "I can make a 12th trick by ruffing a club in your hand or finessing in diamonds."

South replied: "I could make six hearts, but you couldn't." This was not a criticism but a technical statement. A diamond lead from East will beat six hearts.

"But wouldn't six hearts have been better?" persisted North. "They could have beaten you in six no-trump."

South reluctantly had to agree.

KURT SCHWITTERS

By Werner Schmalenbach, Harry N. Abrams, Inc. 400

Reviewed by Anatole Broyard

CONTEMPORARY painters and sculptors often talk about closing the gap between art and life, but Kurt Schwitters did it almost 50 years ago. He literally inhabited his art. Cutting his house in Hannover, he turned it into a "Merzbau"—a multistoried constructivist sculpture. From the inside, the Merzbau resembled a rain forest of abstract forms, a warehouse of surplus imagination. It was like an immensely complicated lock into which Schwitters himself fitted as the key. Every night, he climbed up this gargantuan creation and slept on top of it, as though resting on his achievement. "Merz" was the root name of all Schwitters's art, derived from a scrap of the word "commerce" in one of his collages. The Merzbau began as a sort of stakelike, combining several dada-like constructions with titles like "Cult Pump" and "Gallows of Desire" into a "Cathedral of Erotic Misery." Composed of pieces of junk that Schwitters incessantly collected and then plastered over, it eventually became the visual poem of a man who recycled the waste products of his environment and made them into art.

Like the corpse in Eugene Ionesco's play "Amédée," the Merzbau continued to grow and occupy an increasing amount of living space. As it grew, its rather literary origins were syncretized in an overall architectural scheme. When it filled the room, Schwitters evicted his upstairs tenant and broke through the ceiling. His son, too, was forced to move to another room. The work finally extended from the basement, even penetrating the kitchen, to the roof. Inevitably, it pushed up through the roof and Schwitters added a windowless penthouse at the top which served for years as his bedroom. Under the stress of its owner's enthusiasm, the side wall of the house developed a species of hernia, too, and this became a balcony.

Only photographs have survived for the Hannover Merzbau was destroyed by a bomb in 1943. They reveal a structure of astonishing inventiveness and considerable beauty. A "Cabinet of Dr. Caligari" carried to its ultimate conclusion, an architecture as intimately related to its occupant as the most intricately convoluted shell of any mollusk.

Schwitters also toyed with the idea of designing a system of weights that would automatically adjust the aesthetic balance of a room to the movements of a person in it. To realize this idea, he projected a series of experiments using white mice. In another equally far-fetched but delightful scheme for "doing away with the unhabitability of houses," he proposed to incorporate into the architecture of the tenant's typical trajectories of the tenant. His designs for an experimental theater would pack today's Off-Broadway houses: "Take gigantic surfaces conceived as infinite, cloak them in color, shift them menacingly and wait their smooth prudence. Shatter and embroil flimsy parts... find a sewing machine that yawns... Take lights and deform them as brutally as you can... Take petticoats and other

Hawks Set for Final After 1 Day of Rest

CHICAGO, May 3 (AP)—The Hawks have one day of rest after their grueling series with the New York Rangers, the Chicago Blackhawks are hoping for a rest after the final night of the Stanley Cup playoffs.

It will mark the first time the Hawks have reached the Cup final since 1965 when they bowed to the Canadiens in seven games. Coach Billy Reay recalled that series today after the Hawks had gone through a losing-up drill. "You know back in '65 we weren't supposed to beat Detroit in the first round," said Reay.

"They were the champions. We eliminated them in the sixth game at Detroit. We went back to our hotel and the next day we were going to Montreal to play. "All our reaction came in beating Detroit and we didn't have much left," said Reay.

"This time I think it will be different," continued Reay. "I think we're better prepared mentally and I'm hoping for a better start."

The Hawks reached the finals by eliminating Philadelphia in four straight games and then beating New York through a grueling seven-game set in which three of the contests went into overtime.

The series wasn't really decided until Chico Maki hit an open net with 38 seconds remaining to clinch a 4-2 victory yesterday after Bobby Hull had broken a 2-2 tie with a goal early in the third period.

Montreal shocked the hockey world by defeating the mighty Boston Bruins in seven games and then battled past the Minnesota North Stars in a six-game set which ended last Thursday.

"Sure, I'd love to have an extra day of rest," said Reay, "but there's nothing we can do about it. The series we just finished was really eight games when you consider the overtime."

"The Hawks have one injury problem and that involves center Pit Martin who has a bruised muscle in his right knee. Martin injured the knee a week ago Sunday in New York and re-injured it early in yesterday's game."

"Martin is doubtful," said Reay. "Right now I would say he can't play but you can never tell about these things. If the swelling goes down he could be available."

If Martin is unable to play, Reay will use Ken Armstrong, who played with the Hawks last season, and Maki to center with Eric Stenstrom at right wing.

The second game will be played Thursday night in Chicago with the series shifting to Montreal for games Sunday and next Tuesday night.

Sunday's Game
Chicago at New York at 8 p.m. Maki, Reay, Maki, Stenstrom, G. Stenstrom. (Chicago wins best-of-7 series, 4-3).

Ralston to Coach U.S. Davis Cuppers
NEW YORK, May 3 (AP)—Edward A. Ralston, captain of the United States Davis Cup tennis team, has announced the selection of Tommie Ralston to coach the 1971 team. Ralston, a professional since 1966, will be serving as United States coach for the fourth consecutive year.

This year, the Davis Cup challenge round will be played in the Julian J. Clark Stadium in Charlotte, N.C., on Oct. 8, 9, 10.
